used to meet us at the end of it, & wished we might tread it once again. How perfect these days are - they are flying by only too fast -

May come of them any other kind of shoes later bring about the desired meeting.

Sincerely yours

Dear Miss Whitney,

Alas! there will be no packing of rubber shoes or any other kind of shoes for a beautiful visit to you & your mountain.
I interpreted your card to mean that there had been another joyful summons to your heights — but too delightful a fairy as I had heard nothing tale to really come true! from Miss Thurber. I But 'Hope on, hope ever.' feared another obstacle. If you should be so altho' the attendant good as to plan for had returned & all us again may it prove had seemed running whe the third time smoothly at Dewey Pt. that never fails!

So I looked up Miss I went to Manomet Russell & behold Miss yesterday & looked Thurber had gone for longingly down the a visit to her two little Green Lane as nieces — It has always of the blue sea & seemed to me quite the welcome that

Miss Anne Whitney
